Two Theft Cases Before the City Court. Boy Who Took a Wheel in New York Is Not Prosecuted.

In the city court on Friday the continued case of the state vs. Jacob Segel, a New York boy, was called up. The boy admitted taking a bicycle from New York and bringing it to Norwich on the steamer Chelsea. The owner of the bicycle, who recovered his property, did not want to prosecute the boy and he was allowed his freedom. Segel went to his brother's home in Preston. The Norwich police took the boy into custody upon the arrival of the boat here Thursday morning.

King of Impersonators at Eagles' Bazaar. Refte Made His Appearance at Olympic Hall on Friday Night.

The Eagles' bazaar, which is being held at Olympic hall, had for its feature attraction Friday night Rello, the king of impersonators. He appeared as a chorus girl. He will also appear in an entirely new act, "Uncle Josh," introducing rube singing, talking and comic songs.

On the other nights of the bazaar Drew's orchestra played for the dancing, which follows the entertainment each evening.

Trade Catalogue Shelf. Will Be Kept for Public Reference at Otis Library.

The Otis library proposes to reserve a special shelf, or shelves, for Trade Catalogues of Norwich manufacturers for purposes, not of circulation, but of public reference.

In representing the many industries of Norwich, the Otis library should meet the purposes for which it was designed, to be a shelf of local interest and a guide to the industrial life of the city.

Any contributions of this material will be gladly received. The library is especially interested in the success of this new feature in the work.

Political Gossip. Still Interested in Democrats. Professor Willard C. Fisher, who is a candidate for governor on the progressive ticket, evidently is still interested in the democratic party as far as local affairs are concerned, for in the list of receipts filed by Town Chairman Thomas F. Griffin yesterday, in regard to the recent town election, Professor Fisher is credited with a contribution of $10.

Some Considerations for Voters. It is conceded that the next Connecticut legislature will be republican in both branches, and it is conceded that the governor will be Marcus H. Holcomb, the undisturbed gentleman who is attending to his duty as a judge, declining all public appearances and awaiting in interesting and dignified quiet the verdict of the people.

Holcomb, the undisturbed gentleman who is attending to his duty as a judge, declining all public appearances and awaiting in interesting and dignified quiet the verdict of the people.

The question of the campaign is as to our congressional delegation—whether Brandegee will go back to the senate and whether the industrious people of Connecticut will continue in the lower house five men who have protested against legislation because it would injure their districts and have them humbly voted for it in spite of the injury it did; men who have protested against legislation because it would injure their districts and have them humbly voted for it in spite of the injury it did; men who have an attitude toward the people who elect them and the opposite when it comes to their party; men who obey the orders of leaders who admit their hostility to New England.

It is humiliating to hear suggestions that there may be a single district in doubt. As for the senatorship, while we all admit Governor Baldwin's eminence, that is no reason for voting a six years' office upon a man of 76 or for voting for a free trade democrat to legislate in accordance with his convictions, but against the interests of the very people who do the voting.—Hartford Courant.
